

I am currently on Indiana's "No Call List" and want to go on record with my opinion of the proposed change to the current no call law. I feel the FCC should not change the current law for Indiana. I for one enjoy not being hounding constantly by unwanted solicitations. My family and I can finally eat dinner without these calls, as well as not having them early in the mornings or late evenings. I chose who I will purchase goods from as well as what charities I donate to. These telemarkets are relentless and rarely take no for an answer. Not having to deal with them is a relief. Please do not change the present law.
